Honor Code

The John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics (Goddard School) recognizes students as adults pursuing their education. The Goddard School Honor Code seeks to contribute to the development of appropriate individual and group behavior, and encourages responsible citizenship within the University community. The administration of honor code policies will be conducted in a manner that will foster the ethical development and personal integrity of students and promote an environment that is in accord with the overall educational mission of the Goddard School and Weber State University.

Students are expected to maintain academic ethics and honesty. Prohibited activities include, but are not limited to, the following:

a. Cheating, which includes:

- i) Copying from another student's test;
- ii) Using materials during a test not authorized by the person giving the test;
- iii) Collaborating with any other person during a test without authorization;
- iv) Knowingly obtaining, using, buying, selling, transporting, or soliciting, in whole or in part, the contents of any test without authorization of the appropriate University official;
- v) Bribing any other person to obtain any test;
- vi) Soliciting or receiving unauthorized information about any test;
- vii) Substituting for another student or permitting any other person to substitute for oneself to take a test.

b. Plagiarism, which is the unacknowledged (uncited) use of any other person's or group's ideas or work. This includes purchased or borrowed papers.

c. Collusion, which is the unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing work offered for credit.

d. Falsification, which is the intentional and unauthorized altering or inventing of any information or citation in an academic exercise, activity, or record-keeping process.

e. Giving, selling, or receiving unauthorized course or test information.

f. Using any unauthorized resource or aid in the preparation or completion of any course work, exercise, or activity.

As part of my application to the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics, I agree to abide by the Goddard School Honor Code.
