TRIP PACKING LIST

ONE SUITCASE and your UB backpack!

Clothing that can be layered. The Seattle area weather can be very unpredictable. It can be quite warm and then quickly cloud over and become cool. Evenings are often cool and with the humidity, the warm feels warmer and the cool, cold.

Bring an umbrella or rain resistant jacket. Who knows? You may not need it but then the chances of rain are 70% most days.

Pillow and blanket for the bus.

Any cell phones, iPods, mp3 or other electronic devices such as cameras are brought at your own risk. UB will not be responsible for lost, stolen, or forgotten items.

Personal toiletries. You will be sharing a room with three other people. You will need to organize yourself so that everyone has ample time to prepare each morning. Unless you plan to get up very early, do not plan on taking an hour in the bathroom.

Most importantly, bring a positive and inquisitive attitude. This trip is a prelude to the summer instruction you will be given for the following five weeks and will only be as exciting as you want it to be. Leave the drama at home.

“FAMILY GAME NIGHT”

The Boys and Girls Clubs of Weber/Davis hosted Family Game Nights at the Roy Center and at the Marshal White Center in Ogden during the month of May. The Upward Bound Keystone Club members were in attendance both evenings and acted as mentors and tutors to younger members in this effort to bring families together in a fun, interactive way. For three hours, teenagers taught, younger children and parents played and everyone went away with a feeling of satisfaction and great appreciation for each other.

ACT Testing - Bridge 2009

Juniors 2009—oops, Sorry, you are now considered Seniors—remember the ACT in April? Well, plan to retake the ACT in July as part of the Upward Bound Summer program. This is a mandatory part of the program and will help you decide what your strengths are. It is important to remember that which ever test results are the highest, those are the results considered by the university you will attend. The rest are all just practice. ACT scores are use for class placement and scholarships and, at some universities and colleges, for admissions and acceptance. College is serious business and if you are (and you are) planning college graduation, you need to prepare and push yourself in everything you do. Life is always challenging your limits.

Global Youth Service Day

Global Youth Service Day (or Earth Day as it used to be called) was honored by Upward Bound and the Keystone Club members by helping to clean up weeds and plant at the Ogden Nature Center. A Boys and Girls Club activity, the Keystone Club members donated two hours to increase the appeal of the Ogden Nature Center to all visitors. Thanks to six Upward Bound students who donated their free Saturday (no College Prep) to improving a little piece of our community.

TAD CALCARA and NEW DEAL SWING

Upward Bound's Keystone Club members attended a concert at Weber State University on May 1, 2008. The Utah Symphony's principal clarinetist Tad Calcara and his band New Deal Swing performed in an all-new evening of charts from the golden age of swing. Comprised of Utah

Symphony musicians, as well as several of the state's finest jazz musicians, the band's repertoire focuses on swing music played by the great Big Bands of the mid 1930's. The evening features tunes by Artie Shaw, 'Sy' Oliver, Duke Ellington and many more. Audience members were also entertained by young dancers showing off great swing moves, dips, flips, throws, and slides.
