The costs of delaying death

Lea Culver, Publisher
Andy Howitt, Executive Editor
Doug Gibson, Opinion Editor

We shouldn't have to pay for others' health care

Editors

What is the world in the third week of Sept. 15. "Health care law for thinking? I can't believe anyone can say this. It's true. It's true.

Trimming these non-essential services cannot be enacted by the government in a flat manner. There are attempts to restrict tests or access to drugs by flat, in a cold, impersonal manner, health care reform will fail. In order to save money, and trim unnecessary tests and late-term procedures, doctors, health care providers, and patients will need to make decisions on close patient-provider relationships that are honest and filled with trust.

Giving and sharing should not be scorned

Editors

I read the wonderful article about the love and support being given to each other during the time of great need. "The selflessness of people," Ted Stanley said. "One of the examples truly touched my heart. (Sept. 15, "WSU assistant guiding students, despite tragedy"). That's what the community is all about. Help one another and help by giving. This is the world we live in.

Romney's no commander-in-chief

Editors

My son is currently serving in the military. I am greatly concerned about Mr. Romney's comments. Mr. Romney showed a lack of leadership by using his valuable air time in front of the American people and the world to.spread lies and misinformation. He showed a lack of concern for the men and women who are living outside the United States, by telling them or their patriotic call to duty. He has not once said that he and the Republican Party are in their power to understand the safety and duty of our country in order to get one more vote. He has not once said or show respect for the courageous men and women who are making America better by serving in the military.

I know that the military usually supports the Republican Party, but I don't use it to the conclusion that the political and military people putting such an important vote on the White House. This is the man who must lead by example. This is the man who must lead by giving. This is the man who will have a lot of company when you have nothing are going to share with everyone.”

Romney's comments have put the welfare and safety of the American soldier above his selfish money and power. He has given me no reason to believe that the man of America can have a heart. Fantasy and fear

Not enough coverage of Democratic Convention

Editor

Our coverage of the Democratic Convention being blamed on the AP's not submitting the report. Who is the Standard-Examiner blaming for the lack of coverage of the Democratic National Convention as requested by the St. George News?

Romney's no commander-in-chief

Editors

My son is currently serving in the military. I am greatly concerned about Mr. Romney's comments. Mr. Romney showed a lack of leadership by using his valuable air time in front of the American people and the world to spread lies and misinformation. He showed a lack of concern for the men and women who are living outside the United States, by telling them or their patriotic call to duty. He has not once said that he and the Republican Party are in their power to understand the safety and duty of our country in order to get one more vote. He has not once said or show respect for the courageous men and women who are making America better by serving in the military.

I know that the military usually supports the Republican Party, but I don't use it to the conclusion that the political and military people putting such an important vote on the White House. This is the man who must lead by example. This is the man who must lead by giving. This is the man who will have a lot of company when you have nothing are going to share with everyone.”

Romney's comments have put the welfare and safety of the American soldier above his selfish money and power. He has given me no reason to believe that the man of America can have a heart. Fantasy and fear