

Degree Evaluation Update

May 2007

---

The Good...

Degree Eval Info Webpage

By the end of this month you will be able to get up-to-date information on all aspects of the degree evaluation! A link to the Degree Evaluation Information page will be accessible through the Academic Advisement Center webpage at <http://departments.weber.edu/aac>, where you will find the following features:

- A problem report form which allows you to report degree eval problems online, eliminating the need to compose a full-fledged email,
- A link to the monthly Degree Evaluation Update newsletter,
- A link to the Degree Evaluation Online Tutorial (which will also be available on the new eWeber faculty/staff portal), and
- Other information pertinent to the degree evaluation worksheet.

Watch for this new webpage and let me know what you think!

The Bad...

Credit Hour Miscalculations

BEWARE!!! The “Total Required Credit Hours” calculation at the top of the degree eval worksheet is not always correct. Please refer to the academic transcript to verify all credit hour & GPA calculations!

And The Ugly!

---

Banner 7.4 Upgrade

We will shortly be testing the degree evaluation worksheet for the Banner upgrade in the next few months. An email was sent to all college advisors on April 26th requesting the names and W#s of a variety of students from each college in order to perform a more comprehensive test. If you want to ensure that your department is adequately represented in this test, please make sure your college advisor sends me the W#s for 1-2 students in your particular area.

*“Never, never, never,
never give up!”*

-- Sir Winston Churchill

---

I'd love to hear your ideas, navigation tips, complaints, insights, etc... anything degree eval! Please send your contributions to Jane Stout at jstout@weber.edu or call ext. 8751 and leave a message.

---