It's getting to the point where pedestrians are putting their lives on the line when stepping into crosswalks in Junction City. That is not an exaggeration. A brand new age of drivers seem to pay little, if any, attention to pedestrians walking in crosswalks where there is nothing to pay little, if any, attention to.

The latest bit of evidence for this trend is a danger is being ignored is the Ogden City Council candidate Jonathan Neil, injured when she was walking in a crosswalk on 25th Street and Lincoln Avenue in Ogden on Wednesday. The driver was cited for a failure to yield the right of way to the pedestrian. Neil was thrown ten feet and very lucky to suffer minor, almost painless, injuries to her left knee. We wish her well as she recovers.

Raising awareness of the dangers of crossing streets in Ogden, particularly in the downtown area, is something that needs to be done sooner rather than later.

It is evident that when the president's policies fail, he denounces the Tea Party. Or, he claims that any opinion that is not to his liking is an unreasonable one. In contrast, if the rhetoric Labor day weekend by Newt Gingrich, the tea party president is over the top. The tea party's recent supplication had enough of this president and his lack of leadership. The only solution President Obama has, “to spread around more borrowed money.”

Keep lawmakers’ hands off of trust funds

Most Americans don’t trust the social security fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion) than the Social Security Trust Fund ($2.5 trillion).

During the Republican presidential primaries in 2008 and 2012, Ron Paul stated that U.S. foreign policy caused the 9/11 disaster. Rick Santorum ignorantly reacted. All he has to do is read Obama’s book “The World According to America” to know why Paul said it. Refuting to acknowledge foreign policy played any part in this horrific event is sticking our heads in the sand to save face. Here is a quote from the letter: “The American people are the ones who choose their government by way of their own free will, and that government has the ability and choice to refuse the policies of their government. Every American has to be a part of that decision. The American people have the ability and choice to refuse the policies of their government. Every American has to be a part of that decision.”

DONESBURY

By Garry Trudeau

D-8A

March 11, 2011

Tuesday, September 20, 2011

Standard-Examiner

Editorial Page

DOONESBURY

By Garry Trudeau

MALLARD FILLMORE

By Bruce Tinley

OPINION

Send us your letter

For letter guidelines, visit the letters website.

Letters are posted online before being published in the newspaper. To submit your letter to the editor, go to www.standard-examiner.com/letters

Dismiss

On StandardNet

DOYLE MUNROE

The Los Angeles Times columnist is a world-renowned cartoonist who is helping pro-duce a new comic strip based on the cartoons of his father, Charles M. Schulz, who created the iconic comic strip, “Peanuts,” which ran in newspapers around the world. He is a native of Ogden, Utah, and lives in Los Angeles, California.

Crossing over

For readers who prefer to receive a daily email summary of the content on letters@standard-examiner.com.