

Mark LeTourneau
Professor of English

Education Ph.D., Purdue University, 1986

Awards & Honors AHA Faculty Award, 2011

Courses Taught

- College Writing: ENGL 1010 (1), 2010 (2)
- General Education Literature: 2200 Introduction to Literature, 2220 Introduction to Fiction (online)
- Linguistics: 3010 Introduction to Linguistics, 3030 The Structure of English, 3040 The History of English, 3050 Grammar, Style, and Usage for Advanced Writing
- Dual-Designation and MENG courses: 4420/6420 Syntax and Phonology for ESL, 6320 World Languages, 6330 Literary and Rhetorical Stylistics (Fall 2022)

Research & Publications

- 2021 Get Real: Relating Linguistic Theory to Linguistic Practice(s). Keynote address for the first IALC (International Applied Linguistics Conference), 30–31 March 2021, Qasdi Merbah University of Ouargala, Algeria.
- 2020a English Linguistics: An Introduction. 2nd ed. Dubuque, IA: Kendall Hunt.
- 2020b Forward. Teaching Academic Writing as a Discipline-Specific Skill in Higher Education. Ed. El-Sadig Y. Ezza and Touria Drid. Hershey, PA: IGI Global, xiii–xiv.
- 2020c Review of Alister E. McGrath, Christian Theology: An Introduction, 6th ed. (Blackwell, 2017) and ed., The Christian Theology Reader, 5th ed (Blackwell, 2017). AEH 89.1:71–74.
- 2020d Review of The Oxford Handbook of Theology, Sexuality, and Gender, ed. Adrian Thatcher (Oxford, 2017). AEH 89.2:200–02.
- 2019 Justice, Race, the Law and the Case for Linguistic Credibility: A Conversation with John Rickford. Coauthored by Mark Denniston. Weber: The Contemporary West 36.1:12–21.

Service

- Member, Social and Behavioral Sciences Dean Search Committee, Spring 2021
- Member, Scientific Committee and abstract reviewer for IALC, Spring 2021

Fun Fact(s) I am a licensed lay preachers at Good Shepherd Episcopal Church here in Ogden.