A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT

Brad L. Mortensen

Dear WSU Graduate:

Thank you for choosing Weber State for your studies. The richness of our reputation for providing personal interaction, connection and support exists only because of students like you.

Graduating in 2020, during the coronavirus pandemic, is something you will always remember. As you reach the pinnacle of your academic pursuit, every discipline, from health professions to business and economics to science to education to arts and humanities to social and behavioral sciences to engineering, applied science and technology, is realizing new applications for its knowledge and principles to confront the challenges of this global health crisis. The education you have obtained at Weber State will help you be part of finding a better way forward.

In addition to the completion of the academic requirements for your degree, a diploma dated “2020” also represents your fortitude for completing despite the disruption of spring semester. You have confidence not only in your knowledge but also in your grit, determination and adaptability to overcome difficult circumstances. Whether you continue to another degree or enter the workforce, this huge accomplishment will always propel you to greatness.

Reflecting on our journey through 2020 would not be complete without recognizing calls for greater justice and equity. In the face of protests and unrest, racial tensions and political strains, the values of community engagement and inclusive excellence embedded in your Weber State experience will serve all of us as we work for solutions.

Time and time again, employers tell me that Weber State produces model graduates with a unique set of technical, critical-thinking, communication and problem-solving skills required to be successful in today's rapidly changing workplace. We know the creativity shared between you and your professors and the assistance of supportive staff members opened doors to a unique learning experience rooted in student success. Boldly step out into your next chapter knowing that you are prepared and that your Weber State family and I are forever cheering you on to more success.

You are now an alumna/us of this great, Great, GREAT university. I encourage you to stay connected to your alma mater as you continue on your life's journey. We rely on the stories of your success to convey Weber State louder and prouder. Please join us in this effort by engaging with the WSU Alumni Association.

Congratulations again on your graduation. Celebrate (following appropriate social distancing and safety protocols, of course)! You deserve it. Enjoy this day and the brighter future that you now have because of your success.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES MESSAGE

Mr. Nolan Karras
Chair, WSU Board of Trustees

On behalf of University Trustees, we congratulate you on your graduation from Weber State University. More than any time in history, an education is required to equip one to compete in a global economy. Through your graduation, you have taken a significant step toward ensuring a better future for you and for future generations. We are pleased to be part of your success. In a world where knowledge is said to double every few months, all of us must commit to a lifetime of learning and reinventing ourselves. Technological advances and the forces of globalization are reshaping our lives, and your graduation is a significant achievement as you seek to prosper in this new era. We trust that through your efforts — evidenced by today's graduation — you have taken a significant step in preparing yourself to thrive and find future success and happiness. Albert Einstein said, "Wisdom is not a product of schooling but the lifetime attempt to acquire it." Another great mind, Eleanor Roosevelt, said "I think, at a child's birth, if a mother could ask a fairy godmother to endow it with the most useful gift, that gift would be curiosity." Keep your curiosity alive, and continue to challenge yourself to learn throughout your life, and you will assure your own wellbeing and the wellbeing of those around you. It is also important you use the talents and abilities gained through your education to contribute to the community and society at large. Author David McCullough Jr. said, "The great and curious truth of the human experience is that selflessness is the best thing you can do for yourself." As an educated person, you have a responsibility to reach out and assist others, and we encourage you to do so. Your success is built on the efforts and sacrifices of so many before you, and you have an equal obligation to help pave the way for others. Again, we offer you our heartfelt congratulations, and we wish you every success.

WSU STUDENT ASSOCIATION FAREWELL

Dear Graduates:

Congrats, Cats! On behalf of the WSUSA Executive Board and every member of WSUSA, we congratulate you on this major milestone. We challenge you to continue using the skills gained throughout your Weber State University experience. Be courageous. Be resilient. Be forward thinking. Be you a graduated Wildcat.

You are now an official alumnus of Weber State University! It truly is a great, great, great honor to be an alumnus of such an incredible institution. We hope you value your education, enjoyed your experiences, and always remember to bleed purple.

Today, you join more than 154,430 alumni who call Weber State University their alma mater. WSU continues to meet the needs of our local and global community. We celebrate your inclusion in this growing number.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, college graduates earn an average of $1 million more than high school graduates over their lifetimes. Your recent degree, along with your knowledge and skills, provides you with this opportunity. Make the most of it!

Consistent with this year's theme, "Louder and Prouder," we hope you use this time to propel yourself into the future. It is the time to be louder and prouder to make a difference and to pave a future of leadership. When you walk out the doors today, remember those who follow in your footsteps are counting on you to make the world a brighter place.

Best wishes, Wildcats!

2019-2020 WSUSA Executive Board

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION WELCOME

Clint Costley

WSU Alumni Association President

On behalf of the Weber State University Alumni Association, Congratulations! After four arduous years. For some of you five or six and the select few of you, seven and more. After what feels like a lifetime of “hard work.” You did it! You’ve accomplished your goal; your future is tremendously bright! Celebrate! Ralph Waldo Emerson said “What lies behind us, and what lies before us are small matters compared to what lies within us.” Today we celebrate what lies within each of you! The late-night cram sessions, the unrealistic deadlines, the successful projects, and the energy drinks. We celebrate the sheer fact that conquering through endurance has brought you to a place of desired achievement. You were unstoppable not because you did not have doubts or setbacks, but because you continued to persist in challenging circumstances. Through believing in yourselves and remembering you can do hard things; you have willed yourselves to this day!

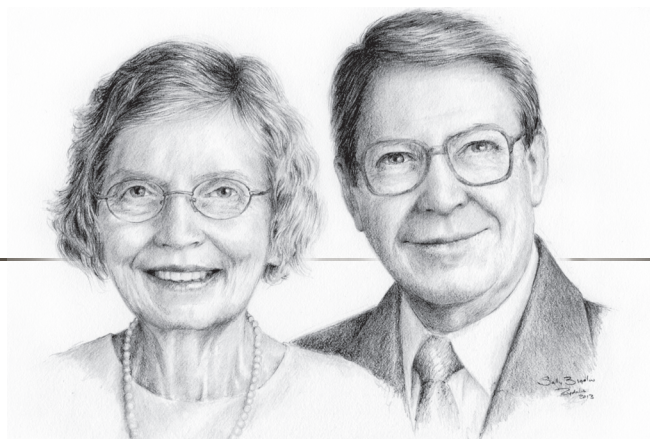

For over 125 years this institution has been a place where goals have been met and dreams have come true. It has been a place where your potential has been unlocked. It is the place that taught you how to live and how to make a living. What an impressive group to be associated with, you are now part of the legacy. Embrace this moment, celebrate your success, this milestone is a great accomplishment. Thank those who have been a part of your journey and remember to celebrate where it all happened, your alma mater, Weber State University.

The Weber State Alumni Association would like you to continue to be part of our legacy. We continue to recognize alumni’s accomplishments and we want you to be part of the success of our alumni. Whether you are a player in the NBA, a Police Captain, or a 2nd place finisher in the Boston Marathon, we want to celebrate your continued success. Our Alumni are impacting others throughout the world. As part of the alumni association we will keep you connected to Weber State University.

A favorite thought of mine reads, “Today I have stood among the tall trees, and now I am taller.” Today and every day ahead, consider yourselves taller. Congratulations, graduates.

Forever a Wildcat!!!

THE BRADY PRESIDENTIAL DISTINGUISHED PROFESSORS

The Brady Presidential Distinguished Professor Award was made possible by a generous gift from Rodney and Mitzi Brady. Rod served as president of Weber State College from 1978 to 1985. His leadership left an indelible impression on this institution. Following the wise advice of his father, Kenneth Brady, who once said, “The story of one’s life is interesting and important only so far as it affects the lives of others.”

President Brady worked tirelessly to raise the bar in the quality of undergraduate education offered at Weber State. He stressed the importance of attracting and retaining dedicated faculty and urged them to constantly pursue teaching excellence. The Brady Presidential Distinguished Professor Award is the prestigious recognition of the most respected members of the WSU faculty; to encourage teaching, scholarship and research of the highest quality; to promote the recruitment and retention of the excellent faculty members; and to provide stipends that will enable recipients of this honor to further their professional academic objectives. Recipients of this honor are tenured full professors with a minimum of five years of service at WSU; nominated by their peers; and selected by senior faculty members and academic administrators.

Sara Dant

History professor Sara Dant is an author and presenter whose work focuses on environmental politics in the United States with an emphasis on the creation and development of consensus and bipartisanism. She began her career at Weber State in 2001 after earning her master’s and doctoral degrees in American studies and history respectively at Washington State University, where she was recognized as an outstanding scholar and teacher.

Dant has published dozens of articles, book chapters and reviews. Her most recent book, “Losing Eden: An Environmental History of the American West,” dissects the interaction between people and nature over time. The work, which was well reviewed in scholarly journals and popular periodicals, led to numerous podcasts, public radio interviews, invited lectures and book signings. Dant has also authored several prize-winning articles on western environmental politics and published two chapters on Utah history: “The ‘Lion of the Lord’ and the Land: Brigham Young’s Environmental Ethic” (2019) and “Going with the Flow: Navigating to Stream Access Consensus” (2014). She co-authored the two-volume “Encyclopedia of American National Parks”(2004).

Dant has served as an expert witness in two environmental law cases in Utah. One of the cases involved public access on the Weber River. Dant had the task of documenting historical evidence of commercial use of the river — research that determined jurisdiction over and access to the waterways. Ultimately, her research and testimony were so compelling, the district court decided in favor of public access, a decision later upheld by the Utah Supreme Court.

A popular teacher, Dant's lectures combine wit and scholarship that students say give them a new appreciation of history.

"I firmly believe people care about what they know, which makes history as relevant today as ever," Dant said.

"My students know my favorite question is, 'At what cost?' Who or what pays the price for the decisions we've made in the past and how does that play out over time? To me, it's a terrific shorthand for getting at the essence of history — the study of change over time — and thinking deeply about how we secure a sustainable future in which both humans and nature can thrive and endure."

Dant was selected as the 2019-20 John S. Hinckley Fellow at Weber State for excellence in scholarship, teaching and service and has twice received the university's Faculty Sustainability Research Award (2015, 2017).

Chris Hoagstrom

Zoology professor Christopher Hoagstrom, has spent a lifetime researching and writing about freshwater fish and the rivers in which they reside. He wants students to understand connections between everyday life and conservation and how both fish and humans depend equally on an adequate, clean water supply.

"People are ultimately in the same puddle as the fish we affect," Hoagstrom explains. "As more and more water is used and polluted, we are remiss to take this resource for granted. Thus, efforts to conserve freshwater fish not only seek to preserve our natural resources but also make us more aware of and more knowledgeable about issues with our own water supply."

Hoagstrom, who earned his doctoral degree in Wildlife and Fisheries Sciences from South Dakota State University in 2006, joined WSU's zoology faculty the same year, serving as department chair from 2012 to 2019.

He has overseen teams of undergraduate students conducting multi-year field research in northern Utah.

In 2016, Utah's Division of Wildlife Resources (UDWR) enlisted Hoagstrom's assistance with a problem at their community fisheries. Trout stocked into the ponds are easy targets for fish-eating birds, especially the voracious double-crested cormorant. Hoagstrom and a revolving group of undergraduate research students have made extensive observations of the birds at the ponds and have provided recommendations to assist UDWR in mitigating the problem without harming either fish or birds. Hoagstrom and his students have also done an extensive sampling of trout populations in the canyon streams of the northern Wasatch Front in cooperation with UDWR. Their documentation of troutless streams helped facilitate several reintroductions of native Bonneville cutthroat trout. Hoagstrom's students have since monitored the success of reestablished populations. Hoagstrom was a WSU 2012 Gwen S. Williams Prize honoree for extraordinary work by faculty. In 2019, he was presented the Office of Undergraduate Research College of Science Outstanding Mentor Award.

"I do my best to help students connect fundamental concepts with applied subjects and problems," Hoagstrom said. "Because it's exciting to understand complex topics with real-world relevance, I try to give students that experience."

Hoagstrom has served in leadership roles for both the Desert Fishes Council and the Ogden Nature Center. In addition to more than 20 peer-reviewed articles, he co-edited a multi-authored volume to be published by the University of Chicago Press this year, "Standing Between Life and Extinction, Ethics and Ecology of Conserving Aquatic Species in North American Deserts."

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

Dr. James Hurst

James C. Hurst '59

Scholar, Educator, Administrator, Mentor and “Forever Wildcat”

Ogden native James “Jim” Hurst was born during America’s Great Depression in an unadorned, two-toned wood frame house built by his father, grandfather and uncle. Growing up, he and three older siblings hunted, hiked, fished, camped and cavorted with a rambunctious throng of aunts, uncles and cousins, most of whom lived on the same street. A handsome and talented athlete, Hurst attended Ogden High School and served as student body president. After graduation, he followed a family tradition of military service. In the Korean War, he trained as a U.S. Army Ranger, led a platoon overseas, and was honorably discharged with the rank of sergeant.

Hurst’s journey in higher education began at Weber College, where he was elected student body president in 1958. During his term, he tenaciously rallied support for Weber’s push to achieve four-year status. He earned a bachelor’s degree in psychology at the University of Utah and was awarded a graduate assistantship at Brigham Young University to study counseling psychology. A prestigious National Defense Education Act Fellowship enabled Hurst to pursue a doctoral degree at Duke University.

Hurst began his professional career as a counselor at Oregon State, followed by teaching and administrative stints at Colorado State and the University of Texas at Austin. He retired in 2000 as the University of Wyoming’s vice president for Student Affairs. Wyoming’s governor proclaimed Hurst’s last day of work “James C. Hurst Day” in part to acknowledge the crucial role Hurst played in helping the campus community heal after the shockingly brutal murder of student Matthew Shepard two years earlier.

Throughout his life, Hurst found opportunities for service and leadership. He was the national president of the Counseling Psychology Association, chair of Clinical and Counseling Institutional Accreditation for the American Psychological Association, and national president of the Sons of Utah Pioneers. He and his wife served senior missions for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, helping missionaries in South America and Europe overcome personal problems.

Although he proudly sported the colors of eight different colleges during his lifetime, none meant more to Hurst than the purple and white of Weber State. While serving on the Emeriti Alumni Council in 2003, he spearheaded a series of lectures, exhibits, films and panel discussions honoring World War II veterans. Most recently, he chaired the Student Affairs Advancement Council. In 2010, Hurst received a WSU Salutes Lifetime Achievement Award and reigned with Joan as Emeriti Alumni Homecoming Royalty. The couple’s oldest son, Jeff, is Weber State’s current dean of students.

Crystal Maggelet

Commencement Speaker

Crystal Call Maggelet

CEO, FJ Management Inc.

Crystal Call Maggelet is a second generation CEO of FJ Management Inc., a diversified family business that includes wholly owned subsidiaries Maverik convenience store chain and Big West Oil petroleum refinery. FJ Management also has a minority stake in Pilot Flying J, a chain of truck stops in the United States and Canada. Other family businesses include TAB Bank and the Crystal Inn hotel chain. In addition to her role as chair of the FJ Management Board, she is the director and audit committee chair of the Pilot Flying J Board of Managers.

In 1960, with his sights set on becoming a leader in owning and operating travel plazas along interstate highways, Maggelet's father, Jay Call, started a business with one small leased station in Willard, Utah. By 1968, Call had incorporated as Flying J Inc., with four independent gasoline outlets. Over the next 10 years, he rapidly expanded his discount chain by adding 50 stations, primarily along the Pacific Coast and in Idaho.

Crystal Maggelet served on her father's board of directors at age 18. At 22, after graduating from Pepperdine University with a bachelor's degree in business administration, Maggelet worked for Flying J as a buyer and seller of liquid petroleum gas. She later earned an MBA from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration and worked as a national salesperson for a small credit card company in Connecticut.

After returning to Utah, Maggelet and her husband, Chuck Maggelet, started the Crystal Inn, which grew into a regional chain of 14 hotels. She eventually put her business career on hold to raise her four children, until her father's untimely death in a 2003 airplane accident and a series of events led to Flying J's bankruptcy. With the fates of thousands of employees resting heavily on her shoulders, Maggelet was able to restructure, pay back every creditor, save jobs and ultimately save the company. She also preserved her father's name and integrity. At the 2018 Entrepreneur of the Year Awards Gala, Maggelet received a special Lifetime Achievement Award in recognition of her accomplishments.

Maggelet is currently one of 18 people appointed by the governor to serve on the Utah Board of Higher Education. She also serves on the Liv Communities Board, Intermountain Healthcare Board and the Zions Bank Advisory Board.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

Mr. Joe McQueen

Joe McQueen

Pioneering Jazz Musician

Listening to Joe McQueen play the saxophone was like riding a wave of emotions. He made you feel alive with inordinate sounds, phrases and melodies produced from deep within his soul — mellow as sunrise, hot as a shot of Jack Daniel's Tennessee Fire, and clear as an alpine lake.

McQueen was born May 30, 1919, in Ponder, Texas, to a father that abandoned the family soon after, and a mother who died when he was just 14. He spent most of his teenage years with his grandmother in Ardmore, Oklahoma.

While there, he learned to play the saxophone and began touring the country with different jazz bands. As local folklore has it, McQueen and his new bride, Thelma, stopped in Ogden during the city's railroad heyday in late 1945. After a bandmate stole the group's money and embarked on a counterproductive Las Vegas gambling spree, the McQueens decided to stay put and make Ogden their home.

McQueen immersed himself in the local music scene, performing gigs alongside jazz immortals like Duke Ellington, Ray Charles, Charlie Parker, Nat King Cole, Cab Calloway, Chet Baker, Count Basie, Dizzy Gillespie and Louis Armstrong. He traveled extensively through the years, but remained fiercely devoted to Ogden.

To make ends meet, he worked for the railroad as a baggage handler. He also held jobs at Hill Air Force Base and taught auto mechanics at Weber State.

McQueen was said to have been "the perfect mix of salty and saintly." In June 2019, dozens of well-wishers met at Ogden's Second Baptist Church to celebrate his 100th birthday. The Standard-Examiner wrote, "speaker after speaker noted that McQueen [was] an inspiration for more than just his music." They praised him for breaking barriers during segregation by refusing to appear at clubs that didn't allow people of color inside. They noted that after he retired in 1979, he routinely drove elderly acquaintances to doctor's appointments, pharmacies and anywhere else they needed to go.

In 2002, Utah's governor established April 18 as "Joe McQueen Day." Three years later, McQueen was the subject of an acclaimed documentary titled, King of O-Town. The beloved musician and community activist passed away in Ogden on Dec. 7, 2019, the 74th anniversary of the day he arrived here.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

Dr. Sam I. Zeveloff

Dr. Sam I. Zeveloff

Brady Presidential Distinguished Professor Emeritus of Zoology

Samuel I. Zeveloff's commitment to undergraduate research is legendary. For nearly 33 years, the East Coast native challenged Weber State zoology students to look beyond themselves and think ecologically as they searched for their place in the world. To give students hands-on opportunities to apply theories and academic abstractions to real-world challenges, Zeveloff created a thesis program that facilitated research projects. He and his students conducted extensive field studies of pygmy rabbit, mountain goat, bat and raccoon populations. Zeveloff also founded Save the Ringtails, a student philanthropy organization.

As chair of the zoology department from 1987 to 2012, Zeveloff directed numerous curriculum initiatives and encouraged faculty to involve their students in service learning and civic engagement. He secured private funding to purchase cadavers and equipment for WSU's human anatomy laboratory. Following the publication of his book "Mammals of the Intermountain West," Zeveloff arranged a donation of wildlife illustrations to the university's Museum of Natural Science. He co-created a study abroad experience to China and Tibet, and helped establish an academic exchange with Universidad Autónoma de Nayarit in Tepic, Mexico.

Zeveloff's outstanding teaching and innovative proposals drew numerous recognitions, including a coveted H. Aldous Dixon Award in 2018. For initiating the university's annual Holocaust Commemoration, he received the Honors Program's Exemplary Collaboration Award. As a Fulbright Scholar in 2014-15, Zeveloff taught graduate courses and studied wildlife conservation at the University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences in Vienna, Austria. In 2006, Zeveloff was among the first three faculty members honored as part of WSU's Brady Presidential Distinguished Professors program.

In 2018, the Stewart Library displayed a breathtaking collection of wildlife and landscape photographs taken by Zeveloff during the 40 years he spent traversing the globe. The exhibit, Wildlife and Landscapes, included images from Madagascar, Fiji and Utah.

TELITHA E. LINDQUIST COLLEGE OF ARTS & HUMANITIES

Convocation

Dear Graduates of the Lindquist College of Arts & Humanities,

Congratulations! It's so wonderful to finally celebrate your accomplishments. Across campus and throughout the community, our hearts went out to you when we could not hold your in-person graduation ceremony in spring due to the pandemic. Now, we have the opportunity to move forward. Embracing the Unexpected, we honor your hard work, persistence and dedication to your education and your future.

Our amazing dean, Scott Sprenger, has accepted the role of President of The American University of Rome. Prior to his departure this summer, and in preparation for the commencement ceremony that was planned for spring, he prepared the following message for your graduating class. He was so proud of all of you and was consistently impressed with your caliber, work-ethic, creativity and intellect.

On this day, I hope you find joy and take pride in the strength of commitment you have made to your future. Go A&H Wildcats!

All the very best,
Amanda Sowerby
Interim Dean, Lindquist College of Arts & Humanities

A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Scott Sprenger

Dear Graduates, Parents, Family and Friends,

“Luck is what happens when preparation meets opportunity,” writes Seneca, the famous Roman philosopher. What this means, of course, is that Seneca thinks that luck does not exist at all! What we perceive as luck is in reality the result of patient and careful planning, whereas the belief in luck can be an excuse for insouciance, lack of planning, and ultimately missed opportunity.

The original idea behind the theme of this year’s convocation Expect the Unexpected was to illustrate all of the exciting activity in and around the Lindquist College of Arts & Humanities, including inviting world-renowned artists-in-residence to work with students, offering innovative travel-study programs, and hiring world-class faculty who are developing cutting-edge programs and mentoring students in extraordinary new ways.

We are thrilled to be welcoming New York Times journalist David Brooks to campus on January 14. This past fall we welcomed world-renowned jazz artist, Alicia Olatuja to campus to perform and do a master class with students, the theatre area performed the world premiere of the musical House of Edgar Allan Poe and our college joined in opening a studio for students at the Monarch in the 9-Rails art district in downtown Ogden. We also recognize Karen Valdez’s accomplishment of winning Utah Public Relations student of the year.

But Expect the Unexpected also echoes Seneca’s message in that today’s students should plan for unexpected “disruptions” in their careers. We know from research that as new technologies displace existing jobs, graduates will be changing careers on average seven times during their lifetime. The big question is: What education is required to pivot successfully from one career to the next when disruption inevitably occurs?

The answer, according to leading labor researchers, is a broad-based liberal arts education provided by the Lindquist College of Arts & Humanities. The principle is simple: Just as a diverse investment portfolio provides protection against market downturns, a diverse set of problem-solving skills learned in the liberal arts protects against job obsolescence.

We commend our graduates for having planned for their first job AND for a lifelong career. We wish them the courage and perseverance to confront whatever unexpected events they encounter. We expect them to lead meaningful, purpose-driven lives during which they will inform and enrich their world in entirely unexpected ways.

Scott Sprenger, Dean

FACULTY RETIREMENT

NASEEM BANERJI

PROFESSOR BANERJI, has been teaching Art History in the Department of Visual Art and Design since 1993. In addition to teaching and her contributions to university life, she has been involved in research on various aspects of ancient and medieval Indian architecture that have resulted in the presentation of numerous papers at conferences. Her publications include a number of articles and two books, the most recent of which, published in 2019, is an inquiry into the ways in which the plans and iconographic programs of a number of 12th and 13th century temples in South India were impacted by religious movements promulgated by philosophers and leaders.

GAIL YNGVE

After 26 years of teaching Composition courses and, yes, even a few Introduction to Literature courses at Weber State University, Gail Yngve will retire in June of 2020. Yngve was one of the first Weber State professors to teach in Interactive Video Classrooms (IVC), and she has taught this format, along with face-to-face, online, hybrid, and block classes over the years. Additionally, she has presented papers at numerous RMMLA conferences on the topics of teaching innovations in hybrid, IVC, and online formats. Her writing has appeared in several publications most recently interviews with NULC visiting writers, published in “Weber: The Contemporary West.” Yngve will miss most interacting with students, whether it be moderating students at NULC, advising students at the Weber West Center, or guiding and shaping student writing skills in the classroom. She is grateful to her students for the many lessons they have taught her.

JAMES YOUNG

DR. JAMES EDWIN YOUNG, II from Ferriday, Louisiana, received his BA in Philosophy and English at Tulane University and his Ph.D. from Peabody College of Vanderbilt University. He taught English at Weber State University for 32 years and was the Director of the English Teaching Program. Dr. Young received several awards during his tenure at Weber State but his greatest achievement, in his opinion, was to train, supervise, and mentor over 500 Middle School and High School English Teachers in the State of Utah. Dr. Young’s most recent publication is “Brainard Cheney and the Search for a Hero: A Literary Biography of a Southern Novelist, Reporter, and Polemicist.”

A MESSAGE FROM THE INTERIM DEAN

Matthew Mouritsen

Dear Graduates,

“Dreams lie at the start, Reality lies in the middle, and Proof lies at the end.”

This statement by Bernie Boettcher (an accomplished runner) describes well what you, our students, experience between your admission to the Goddard School and today's graduation ceremony. Dreams of what you will learn, people you will meet, and how you will be transformed are common. Then classes start and the reality of the demands of higher education capture your full attention. Semesters passed and just as you were about to complete your education, a reality emerged in the form of COVID-19 that caused us all to adjust our personal and professional lives. After all the realities of business education and life outside of school, including this pandemic, are conquered, we gather in an event like this one today to celebrate your success. We celebrate the proof that you can endure, you can learn, and you can balance all that life throws your way. We also get to stop calling you students and refer to you as graduates, our esteemed alumni.

Now, it is time for you to dream new dreams, face new realities, and, in the end, prove to yourself, once again, that you can reach new goals. From your Goddard

School education, you take with you tools, principles, models, and a network of relationships that will benefit you in your careers. Equally as important, you will take the knowledge you have gained about yourself that through your effort you can succeed in every professional circumstance. William James described what you've learned about your exceptional effort this way “Beyond the very extreme of fatigue and distress, we may find amounts of ease and power we never dreamed ourselves to own; sources of strength never taxed at all because we never push through the obstruction” (in Born to Run by Christopher McDougall). You have clearly pushed through the realities and reached this key milestone in your life.

As you leave the Goddard School's programs, we hope you will be able to recall how your faculty and staff sought to provide you with a personal touch to serving your needs, to deliver a flexible, market-aligned education, and to instill in you a desire to be ethically and socially responsible. Our vision is that the Goddard School's learning experiences will have helped you transform yourselves into trusted leaders who will grow your communities and positively impact the world.

We are proud of you. We believe in you. We want the best for you. Congratulations on reaching this milestone. Please don't hesitate to reach out to us with updates on your progress. Dream a new dream and go for it!

Matthew Mouritsen, Dean

A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Kristin Hadley

Dear Graduates,

As we celebrate this time of commencement in uncertain times, we celebrate your tenacity in completing your program of study in preparation for your professional life or as a foundation for further educational opportunities.

As clearly stated by Dr. Seuss, “You have brains in your head. You have feet in your shoes. You can steer yourself any direction you choose.” Today is a day where we celebrate your accomplishments and the culmination of your work at the university and also look forward to an exciting future of opportunities and accomplishments.

The mission of the Moyes College of Education is to prepare professionals for excellence in serving individuals and communities. As you have participated in activities, internships, practica, and research throughout your studies, you have been in the process of becoming this professional. Oliver Wendell Holmes said “One’s mind, once stretched by new ideas, never regains its original dimensions.” You have experienced this stretching as you studied, wrote papers, prepared for exams, taught lessons in schools, presented research, and worked with clients. This stretching may have been uncomfortable at times, as stretching often is, but the end result is a graduate who is ready to serve individuals and communities.

You have been supported in becoming by family, friends, mentors, and caring instructors. As you celebrate today, remember to offer thanks to those who have helped you in your path. With your graduation, you become a Weber State alumnus. You now have the opportunity to provide the same type of support to those students who come after you by serving as a mentor in your profession. Though your completion occurred at a tumultuous time, do not let it define your career. As you choose your future directions, our hopes for your continued success go with you. Keep in touch with the Weber State community. We look forward to celebrating your achievements and successes with you. Congratulations graduate!

Sincerely,

Kristin Hadley, Dean

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

David L. Ferro

At the end of every semester we gather to wish you, our graduates, good luck and good bye. We do so this year a bit differently. You've had the great fortune of graduating in a year that people will talk about for generations. You have a bright future ahead of you. As you leave us I am going to ask of you three things: First – bring joy.

Make the most of your time to bring joy and goodness to the world. Henry Ford said, "To do more for the world than the world does for you – that is success."

Second – feel proud.

As you know, Weber State University is a great place to get an education. When you first came to Weber, maybe you didn't think about it as anything special, however, maybe you did and good on you for being so knowledgeable. I've visited many schools around the world and this place IS special. Folks here don't boast very much, but Weber State truly is Great, Great, Great. Our former president, Ann Milner, used to say never forget that you bleed purple. She meant it to remind you that wherever you go to carry with you the pride of Weber State and what it has done for you. One of our graduates from Professional Sales said it differently: go through life with a little purple chip on your shoulder. That includes schooling the rest of the world on pronouncing WeeBuuur (not Webber). Another former president, Chuck White, said WSU changes lives for good. He meant that not only is your life changed permanently and in a positive way, but that you are helping to bring good to the world.

Third – give back.

When Ann Milner said remember that you bleed purple, she also meant that you should remember that link to Weber State. Many people who graduated before you remembered that link. They did so by giving back to you in one way or another: creating scholarships that many of you have benefitted from, or hiring you, our graduates, or by helping us know the needs of our community so that we might do the best job that we can. Join those members of our purple community who helped us help you, as well as your friends and younger brothers and sisters who come after you.

So, three things: Bring joy. Feel proud. Give back. Always remember that you bleed purple because Weber State is making change for good just like you are today.

Congratulations, you have done well!

Dean David L. Ferro

DUMKE COLLEGE HISTORY

Dr. Dumke, one of the most prominent thyroid surgeons in the country, lived in Ogden from 1911 until his death in 1961. He was one of the founding members of the Ogden Surgical Society and was the first chief of staff at both Dee Memorial Hospital and St. Benedict's Hospital. We are honored to have

Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke's name associated with our college

A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Yasmen Simonian

As dean of the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions, it is with pride and pleasure, on behalf of the faculty, staff, and governing boards, to welcome you to our convocation for the 155th Weber State University Commencement! We have assembled here today to celebrate a milestone for you, and the conferring of your degree from Weber State University. This convocation ceremony signifies the fulfillment of all your hard work, as well as the sacrifices and support of your loved ones and friends. It is our hope that as you reflect back upon your journey today, you will be able to take pride in knowing that you have achieved your educational goals and realized your dreams.

We trust that as a healthcare professional, you will carry with you a desire for lifelong learning, professional development and a passion to be and remain on the cutting edge of your profession. Remember, the field you have chosen is constantly changing and advancing, and the faculty of the Dumke College of Health Professions would be pleased to be a part of any future endeavors in your continuing education. Know your ability and desire to continually learn will ensure your enduring success.

The Dumke College of Health Professions at Weber State University has a distinguished reputation throughout the nation, and the world, for the quality of its graduates. You are now among the elite and highly respected within the healthcare community. We expect you to continue with this tradition, that was started over 70 years ago, and do your best in caring for the patients, clients, coworkers, and employers that you serve ethically, skillfully, with clarity, proficiently, professionally, and above all, compassionately.

We hope you will stay in touch with us; we sincerely want to hear about your successes and experiences along your professional journey. Consider the words of Les Brown who said “Shoot for the moon. Even if you miss, you’ll land among the stars.”

Heartfelt congratulations to you and yours on this special day.

We wish you the very best now and always. Go Wildcats!

Very Sincerely,
Yasmen “Yas” Simonian

GENERAL STUDIES

Dear Graduates:

Congratulations! Today we celebrate your achievements on your path to earning your General Studies associate's degree or General Education certificate of completion. While we are not able to have our traditional celebration to honor you, we know that you will take what you learned here and go on to do great things. Whether this credential is the start of your educational journey or the end, we hope you will look back with pride at what you accomplished during your time at Weber State University.

Always remember that you are great, Great, GREAT!

Best wishes,

The General Studies Advisors

A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Andrea Easter-Pilcher

Dear Graduates:

Today, we proudly celebrate your academic achievements in the College of Science at Weber State University. We applaud you, we commend your perseverance and we are honored to be your cheerleaders as you move forward into a bright future. This has been a long, winding, and sometimes bumpy road for many of you. You have devoted endless hours to your studies and have been tenacious through exam preparations, late night study sessions and early morning, last-minute cram sessions. Many of you have completed successful internships and achieved remarkable results working on a diversity of research projects with our exceptional College of Science faculty. We recognize and applaud that many of you were striving to balance ongoing school demands with work and a busy home life. And yet, here you are, a member of the class of 2019 and a graduate of the College of Science at Weber State University. Kudos to you! You did it!

You will leave here today as an alumna, a member of the Weber State University class of 2019, and an ambassador for the College of Science and Weber State University. The faculty, staff and administration of the College of Science and Weber State University are very proud of you.

We know that you will strive to positively influence the lives of others and that this 2019 class will impact northern Utah and beyond in countless, unforeseen ways in the future. Our global society is faced with many diverse and grand challenges and there are incredible opportunities for you as emerging leaders in the sciences and mathematics. We are confident that we have equipped you with the knowledge, skills, integrity and compassion necessary to confront these challenges and to seek effective and innovative solutions that will sustain our global community into the future.

Keep in touch with the Weber State community. We look forward to celebrating your achievements in the years to come! Congratulations and very best wishes to all of you as you continue to pursue your dreams.

Dr. Andrea L. Easter-Pilcher
Dean, College of Science

A MESSAGE FROM THE INTERIM DEAN

Julie Rich

To the class of 2020:

Today is the day we celebrate your hard work and accomplishments in the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences. This graduation marks the completion of your formal education at Weber State University and the beginning of an exciting new stage of your life. Your final semester was hampered by COVID-19, but you persevered and realized your dream of graduating from university. The fact that you pushed forward, demonstrates that you have the knowledge and fortitude to see your way clearly through upcoming challenges.

We are confident that the knowledge and skills that you have acquired here, both inside and outside the classroom, will serve you well in the years to come. We have every hope that you will have a fulfilling life that enlists the full measure of your abilities, inspires your imagination and creativity, and asks you to contribute to the welfare of your fellow human beings. It has been an honor having you at Weber State over the last several years as one of our students. On behalf of the faculty at Weber State University, we are pleased to recognize your accomplishments. We value what you have taught us as well. We invite you to stay in touch with the faculty and staff of the college. Congratulations to you, and best wishes for the rich future of promise that lies before you!

Julie Rich

PURPLE AND WHITE

Official Weber State University Song

Edited and Arranged by
LYNEER C. SMITH

The musical score is written for a single melodic line in treble clef, 4/4 time, with a key signature of three flats (B-flat, E-flat, A-flat). The lyrics are printed below the staff, with some words hyphenated across measures. Measure numbers 6, 10, 14, 18, 21, 26, and 30 are indicated at the start of their respective lines. The score includes a 'rit.' (ritardando) marking over measures 14-15 and a 'Chorus a tempo' marking starting at measure 16. The piece concludes with a double bar line at the end of measure 30.

Proud-ly wav-ing o're ole We-ber An__ En-sign of truth and right The 6 flag I love, it waves a - bove. I love it with all my might. Oh
10 roy-al - ty lies in its pur - ple, And__ pur - i - ty in its white... I'll 14 hon-ored be if true to thee, And dare to do__ the right.____ Oh, I'll be 18 true to thee, O pur - ple and white! And I will stand by thee in 21 an - y fight; For truth and right will al-ways be__ Close by thee, O flag!
26 All thy chil - dren hon - or thee, Hon - or thine for - ev - er be.
30 Thou art mine for - ev - er, Pur - ple and white.
