

Science Misconceptions in the Classroom: Sources and Solutions

Andrew Shtulman

Occidental College

Author of *Scienceblind:
Why Our Intuitive Theories about the World Are So Often Wrong*

An account of students' misconceptions about scientific phenomena and the resistances they provide in learning science.

Thursday, September 26

4:30 - 6:30 p.m.

Tracy Hall 102

For K-12 Science Educators and Science Teacher Ed students

Light dinner will be served

For more information, please contact:

Jennifer Claesgens (jenniferclaesgens@weber.edu)

or Adam Johnston (ajohnston@weber.edu)